CITE COUNTY'S CONSERVATION ATTAINMENTS

Adams County has "done as much permanent conservation work as any other county, and more than most," Robert C. Lott, president of the Adams County Soil and Water Conservation District board, said Thursday evening at the annual meeting of the district held in the courthouse.

Lott said that more than 1,000 Adams County farmers have installed various practices for conservation, "and only eight counties in the state have an equal number of cooperators."

Henry "Bud" Mattox, county conservationist, reported that during the past year 100 farm plans were completed, bringing to 868 the number made so far. A total of 109,750 feet of tile drains were installed, bringing the total in the county to 156 miles. During 1964, 19,340 feet of diversion terraces were installed bringing the total to 69½ miles. Fourteen farm ponds were installed, making the total in the county 555.

PLANT MANY TREES

Mattox's report showed 47 acres of trees planted, bringing the total to 940 acres so far. At the same time he reported "a tremendous increase in interest in tree planting. It looks like we may set a record for such work."

Grassed waterways constructed during the year totaled 31,475 feet bringing the total to 77½ miles. Contour strips were laid out for 1,029 acres, bringing the total to 10,940 acres so far.

President Lott, who is one of the six members of the State Soil and Water Conservation Commission, said, "The demands on our two great natural resources, soil and water, are steadily increasing. It is predicted our population will double in 20 years. The demands for recreation will triple in 35 years."

LOSING LAND

"As the same time we are losing land to roads, housing, industry. The problems of soil and water conservation will become more acute as the years go by."

He reported that Pennsylvania has protested plans of Army engineers for development of the Potomac River basin, declaring that not enough attention was paid to development of the upper reaches of the watershed.

D. E. Hess, of the Glatfelter Co., said a large dam was being constructed by the Glatfelter Co. in York County around which the state, under Project 70, will establish a recreation area. Hess said that the paper company is

Spark Of Life Flickers Feebly But Churchill Is Continuing Valiant Fight

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's spark of life flickered feebly today, his condition unchanged after a quiet night, a medical bulletin announced.

As he continued his valiant fight, a fire broke out near his bedroom in an apartment house immediately behind his town house. Dense clouds of smoke churned outside the statesman's window.

With muted bells in consideration of the 90-year-old Sir Winston's desperate illness, four fire engines raced to the fire and put it out.

"NO CHANGE"

The bulletin, issued by Lord Moran, Sir Winston's physician, said: "Sir Winston had a quiet night and there is no change in his condition. There will be a further bulletin tonight."

The 16th bulletin since Sir Winston suffered a stroke last Friday brought this comment from a spokesman for the Brit-

CARROLL IRVIN IS COMMENDED FOR BIG HAUL

Carroll Irvin, formerly of Carlisle St., here, has received a letter of commendation from the Collector of Customs for his work in uncovering the attempted smuggling of $500,000 worth of marihuana at Brownsville, Tex.

Irvin, whose sisters, the Misses Betty and Eileen Irvin, reside at 108 Carlisle St., is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Irvin. As supervisor in the U. S. Customs at Brownsville, Tex., he was making a routine inspection of an auto last November 22 when he found a secret compartment containing a plastic bag.

He continued his investigation, and eventually uncovered 100 plastic bags containing 125 pounds of marihuana in various secret compartments of the vehicle. The narcotic weed filled five 20-gallon garbage cans when it was removed from the car.

Charles Kazen, the collector of customs in his letter of commendation said the marihuana was bound for the Chicago market and would be "worth about $500,000 when made into cigarettes and sold at current market values." The two men who were in the car were sentenced in December to serve eight years each, the maximum sentence.

The haul was the largest ever made at the Brownsville customs station.

ARREST TWO IN SHOOTING OF PREMIERE

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Two more young Moslems have been arrested and charged with participating in the attempted assassination of Premier Ali Mansour, police announced today.

Mansour, hit by two bullets Thursday as he stepped from his car to enter Parliament, was reported "improving satisfactorily."

Mohammed Bokharai, 20, was arrested immediately after Mansour was shot. He was charged with the shooting.

Police identified the two arrested later as Reza Saffar Herandi, 23, a shoe store worker; and Morteza Niknejad, 22, a drapery shop employee. Both worked in the old Tehran bazaar, site of many political plots.

QUOTES ON PISTOL

An official said Bokharai had quotations from the Moslem holy book, the Koran, on his pistol. There were four unopened cartridges still in the weapon.

Police said the other two men were armed and had similar pistols bearing religious slogans. They were reported to have fired shots which did not hit Mansour.

The shah's reform program, including the purchase of large holdings from landlords to sell to peasants on easy terms, and giving women political and social rights, has angered conservative religious circles.

KING SPEAKS AT PENN STATE

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, in a speech here Thursday night, said there are certain "myths" concerning racial discrimination that he would like to see destroyed.

One myth, he said, is that time eventually will solve the problem, while legislation on the other hand will not. He said both theories are false.

"Time is really neutral, and time alone becomes an ally of the forces of social stagnation," King told some 7,000 students at Pennsylvania State University.

LAW RESTRAINS

Turning to civil rights legislation, he said: "While it can't make a man love me, it can restrain a man from lynching me. The law cannot open up people's hearts, but it can restrain the heartless."

He suggested that federal registrars be assigned to every county in the south where Negroes are denied the opportunity to register to vote.

"If local registrars refuse to register Negroes, they should be able to go the post office and register," he said.

King, winner of the 1964 Nobel peace prize, said he generally was satisfied with progress under the civil rights law, enacted last year.

CASTRO WARNS PUPPET RAIDS

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro interrupted an optimistic speech about Cuba's current sugar crop to issue a new warning against "pirate" flights over the island.

Castro said the United States and "puppet countries" are "looking for serious trouble" if they permit more bombing raids such as that last Sunday over Pinar del Rio Province. A Cuban exile group claimed it damaged a sugar mill, but the Cuban government said the raid failed.

"We will shoot down everything that flies including some of those American spy planes," Castro declared. "We will shoot them down despite whatever may happen later."

He added that Cuba has "every necessary means to do this, including night fighters and guided missiles that I can assure you are in our hands." He was referring to Soviet ground-to-air missiles which Castro has previously said were now under control of the Cuban armed forces.

Governor, Wife Both In Hospital

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Gov. Dan K. Moore of North Carolina is in Raleigh Hospital with pneumonia, his wife is hospitalized with bronchitis.

Moore, 58, who won his first term last November, has been unable to shake a cold for more than two weeks, said an aide. It became worse after the governor rode in an open car during the inaugural parade in Washington Wednesday. He entered the hospital Thursday night.

Moore's administrative assistant, Charles Dunn, said the governor's condition is not serious and he probably will be discharged from the hospital in a few days. Dunn said he did not know how long Mrs. Moore will be hospitalized.

CONTRACT FOR RESTORATION

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A chamber in one of the nation's most historic buildings — Independence Hall — will be soon restored to its original or near-original Revolutionary-era appearance.

Melford O. Anderson, superintendent of Independence Hall, announced Thursday the award of an $87,400 contract to the Murphy Quigley Co. of Philadelphia for restoration of the Hall's Assembly Room.

That room is cited as the one in which the Continental Congress met, the Declaration of Independence and Articles of

TO SEEK MORE FUNDS TO HELP MENTALLY ILL

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton said today he will ask the 1965 legislature for an $8.3 million increase to expand services on the field of mental health.

The governor's announcement came in the second of a series of four releases from the administration, to publicize its spending proposals for fiscal 1966.

The figure is $6.7 million below the $15 million increase asked by Pennsylvania Mental Health Inc., a statewide citizens group with 18,000 members.

The budget itself is scheduled to be presented to the legislature next Monday or Tuesday.

In the first release, Scranton said he would ask the legislature to approve creation of special geriatric centers for the treatment of indigent old people.

OTHER PROJECTS

Scranton's mental health proposal would include increases from $111.8 million to $118.7 million for operation of state mental institutions, from $1.6 million to $1.9 million for local mental health agencies, and from $240,000 to $367,000 for additional sheltered workshops for the mentally retarded.

A substantial amount of the money asked by the administration for mental health will go toward expansion of community mental health facilities to further advance the fight against mental illness by early detection and treatment.

A comprehensive mental health-retardation plan is scheduled for completion later this year, pinpointing, county-by-county, the mental health needs of Pennsylvania and the best resources to meet these needs.

Boy, 12, Found Today In Chains

CHICAGO (AP) — A boy, wearing only pajamas and socks and with his ankles manacled with an eight-inch chain, was found by police late Thursday night shivering under a rear porch of a South Side home.

Police found the boy, Bruce A. Liss, 12, after neighbors had complained of noises from under the porch. Sgt. James Schaffer said the boy told him his stepfather, Ernest Gore, 41, had put the chains on him last Sunday. Schaffer said the stepfather admitted he had chained the boy, saying he had run away from home several times.

Confederation were signed, and the Constitution was drafted. The contract calls for the completion of restoration by next June 25. The Hall will remain open to visitors while the work is in progress.

LIBRARY HOLDS

memorial gift books last year. "The library received $550 for memorial gifts last year," she said. "This was an increase of $250 over any previous year and we are glad to encourage this giving of worthwhile and lasting gifts as memorials to departed friends."

Her formal, printed annual report called attention to the library's "new look, a bright, clean, spacious look with room for people to work and read." That report also showed 148,756 book loans last year, over 64,000 from the main library and 43,534 through the school bookmobile.

Other parts of the report showed the library now has 44,500 volumes and 12,500 registered borrowers with 4,000 volumes added last year.

Dr. Frank N. Hewetson, the library's treasurer, presented his annual report showing about $12,000 spent last year for new books and $35,000 for salaries.

C. P. Keefe, who was chairman of the committee on arrangements for the annual meeting, introduced a number of guests including Assemblyman and Mrs. Francis Worley, County Commissioner Atlee F. Robert, G. Harrison Fair and G. Edwin Motter and their wives; David Palmer, director of the state Library Development program, and Miss Kay MacFarland, head of the library school at Shippensburg State College. Mr. Palmer later extended official greetings in behalf of Ernest Doerschuk, state librarian, and congratulated the county library on its progress.

Mrs. Gundrum in a 30-minute talk described the operation of a special or engineering library and contrasted its services and purpose with that of a public library. She said a major difference in the two types of libraries is that in a general or public library the fundamental unit is the book while in the special library it is a "particular bit of information in a book or other publication." She noted the differences, too, in the users of the two types of libraries. She described the services her library is called upon to perform in fields ranging from space exploration to medicine because of the wide engineering interests in those diversified areas.

The invocation was given by the Rev. John Z. Martin, United Church of Christ pastor from New Oxford.

Mimeographed reports were distributed to those attending the dinner meeting of the library's Development Fund which showed the construction and remodeling costs and the attendant fund drive totaled $114,037. The library currently has $40,000 borrowed. Donations and pledges to the fund drive totaled nearly $76,000.

Board officers for this year will be elected at the February meeting of the directors.

Rate Increases In Mail Are Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has shelved for further study its plan to seek a rate increase for second- and third-class mail, it was learned today.

The decision was implicit in a Post Office Department announcement that an advisory panel had been formed "to study postal rates and to make recommendations on the rate structure."

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said the panel's findings would assist him in making recommendations to President Johnson.

Gronouski announced, after conferring with Johnson a month ago, the administration's intention to ask Congress for "a modest increase in second- and third-class postal rates."

Schaefer, said Trimmer escaped injury in the crash.

Fourth Travelogue Here Sunday Night

The fourth in the series of "travelogues" being presented by the Gettysburg Photographic Society will be held Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in the West St. branch of the Gettysburg National Bank.

Dr. C. A. Sloat, chairman of the committee, said Elmer H. Schriver, agricultural education teacher at Gettysburg High School, will show the slides he took during last summer's people-to-people tour of Europe, including Russia.

Dr. Sloat noted that while a portion of the slides have been seen by several organizations at which Schriver has spoken, "this program will be the first that will permit the public generally to see views of Russian farming that are most unusual."

In the prior travelogues Wilmer Dracha showed scenes in Yugoslavia, Mac Albright, scenes in Mexico and Dr. R. D. Wickerham views of Norway. The series of travelogues are by countians who have made unusual slides during visits to other countries. At each session, the local men tell of their own experiences during their tours as well as showing the slides they took during the visits.

American coal miners averaged $118 a week in 1963.

Today's Talk

CONFIDENCE

We hear a great deal about confidence, but we sidestep it too much. If we have confidence in ourselves we can accomplish anything for which we are capable. We have "bad times," and depressions largely because people lose confidence in the country, or in public officials. When confidence is restored, good times arrive!

We take a train, plane or ocean liner, and think nothing of danger because we have confidence in the engineer, pilot or the captain and his crew. Fear and it is all too often needless, is the one great enemy of confidence.

When we have confidence in a friend, we can both overlook many a frailty and forgive many a fault. Confidence and faith are what make up a solid friendship. They do all the big things in the world, as well. People buy from firms and institutions whose character is known, and in whom they have confidence. One of life's great tragedies is to lose confidence in a friend.

Free institutions will continue to live, and spread their benefits, just so long as the people have confidence in them. We put ourselves in the hands of a physician in whom we have confidence — and often his words are the best medicine that he uses in restoring confidence in ourselves. We may only be ailing in mind and heart. How very great and welcomed is that one who will help us restore this confidence!

In early days, the old town crier went through the streets of a town ringing his bell or crying "All's well!" We ought to heed an invisible crier of "All's well," every time we awake to a new day. That would give us confidence and make the day a successful one.

To enter into all work with a confident air is most important. We then do our best work and take pride in it. That's what contributes to personal happiness and continual progress. That dog of yours loves you because he has confidence in you. Do not give him disappointment!

Enter each day with a confident air and you will go far, and people will welcome your presence. Confident people are the salt of the earth.

GROWTH

Man's life is such a subtle thing, No one can guess what time will bring,

Nor by what little wisp of chance He may fall backward or advance;

Yet, evening finds a different man From him who rose when day began.

Subject to many a mood and whim Care strengthens or disheartens him.

Good nature or ill temper leaves Its stamp on all that he achieves, For man becomes in many ways The sum and substance of his days.

A stranger taps upon his door; Two lives are changed forever more.

Each may be richer by a friend, Or poorer when the day shall end, For who would change or growth exclude Must live in hermit solitude.

HUMPHREY TO PRESIDE OVER FIRST SENATE

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey gets his first chance today to preside over the Senate as vice president, one of his few constitutional responsibilities.

Today's Senate session is the first since Humphrey's inauguration Wednesday.

The Constitution provides that the vice president shall be the president of the Senate and as such its presiding officer. But it gives him no vote except in case of a tie.

The setting will be familiar to Humphrey, a member of the Senate from Minnesota for 16 years, but not the role he will be called on to play.

WAS ACTIVE SENATOR

Humphrey who was elected assistant Senate Democratic leader in 1961, has been one of the Senate's most active members in the past—one ready, able and willing to speak on almost any subject at any time.

Now he will have to leave the floor debates to others. The vice president seldom gets a chance to say much of anything in the Senate, although he is called on from time to time to rule on procedural issues.

As a practical matter, Humphrey probably won't spend much time presiding over the Senate. This is a chore that usually is delegated to junior senators except on crucial or ceremonial occasions.

Humphrey will have plenty of other duties, though, even if they are not assigned to him by the Constitution.

CIVIL RIGHTS COORDINATION

President Johnson has given him responsibility for coordinating the government's civil rights program. And Humphrey serves as chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities, a nonstatutory agency designed to prevent discrimination by government contractors and in federal employment.

By Law the vice president also is chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council. He also sits in on meetings of the National Security Council.

And at a White House meeting Thursday, reporters understood Johnson to tell Humphrey he wanted him to act as liaison man with congressional leaders for both foreign policy and the administration's legislative program.

York Springs

YORK SPRINGS—Seventy-two relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Showers held a house warming Sunday at their new home in York Springs. Among the gifts were an heirloom meat platter given by Mrs. Showers' grandmother, Mrs. Oscar Whitcomb, which has been used by the family for four generations.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the York Springs Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Andrew Martin recently with 12 members present. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Merle Miller, vice president. The program was taken from the program book beginning a series of lessons entitled "The Life Within."

The first lesson being "We Would See Jesus." Call to worship, responsive reading from the hymnal, Hymn "We May Not Climb the Heavenly Steps," Scripture, John 14:18-27 by Roberta Shank. Presentations, "Series," Mrs. Merle Miller; "Why?" Mrs. Dale Williams; "We Would See Jesus," Mrs. Wm. Kennard. The business meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Lovina Hoff. The main topic of discussion was the operation of a thrift shop. It was announced that the group has been invited to cooperate with the Youth Center of York Springs. The February meeting will be a covered dish dinner in the social room of the church Sunday, Feb. 14 at 12 o'clock. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Andrew Martin and Roberta Shank.

The Latimore WCTU will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Ruth Grove.

Ferman Speck remains a patient in the Carlisle Hospital, where he underwent major surgery Monday.

Mrs. Margaret Franquist returned Thursday from the Annie Warner Hospital by ambulance.

Some 22,000 infants were tested in the first four months, Zimmerman said, and only two were found to have the disease. This, he said is about normal.

ONE IN 10,000

"We know that about one of every 10,000 births will show this PKU condition. That's the expectancy. If discovered early, the condition can be treated by putting the child on a special diet," he said.

Zimmerman explained that a child born with PKU is unable to burn up protein in his body because of an enzyme absent from the liver.

"The protein collects in the blood stream and becomes caustic to the brain," he said. "The child has to be put on a special diet and fed milk from which a certain protein has been removed."

BLIND PUPILS VISIT GALLERY OF SCULPTURE

By MARGARET SCHERF

CHICAGO (AP) — The youngsters moved slowly from one piece of sculpture to another, their fingers caressing the cool surfaces.

That's a good one," said Bryan McMurtry, 11, as he examined Modigliani's "Portrait," a bronze bust of a woman.

"She has long hair and she might be pretty," he added.

"But her eyes are pushed in."

The 27 children attended a special sculpture exhibition Thursday. All are blind or partly blind students from Chicago public schools.

ARRANGED BY LAWYER

A blind lawyer, Burton Kolman, 32, arranged for Chicago collectors to loan 21 valuable pieces of sculpture to the exhibition in a private gallery on Michigan Avenue.

Bryan, a loquacious seventh-grade student who wants to be a psychologist, had appreciative comments for most of the feminine likenesses.

"She must be a good dancer," he said, tracing the leg of Degas' bronze "Dancer." "Her leg is up in the air, yet she isn't falling down."

OTHER STUDENT TOURS

More blind children will tour the gallery each weekday through next Thursday.

"It will give the children concepts of what circles, curve forms and spatial dimensions are like," said Kolman a board member of Recording for the Blind Inc.,

Kolman was accompanied by his seeing-eye dog, a German shepherd named Snow. As Kolman and Jimmy Skinner, 10, inspected a bronze Jimmy asked: "Could you show Snow that?"

"No," Kolman said gently. "Snow is more interested in rabbits and squirrels than art."

There are 1,545,000 automobiles in Sweden.

State Testing Program Saved Two Infants From Mentally Retarded Life

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two Pennsylvania infants have been snatched from a life of mental retardation as a result of a state testing program initiated by the Health Department last August.

The infants—one born in Bradford County, the other in Philadelphia—are being treated by the state for a disease called phenylketonuria (PKU), a cause of mental retardation.

Dr. J. H. Zimmerman, chief of the department's infant and preschool health section, said only one per cent of the mentally retarded children in state schools and hospitals were victims of PKU.

However, the department has concentrated much of its energy in battling this particular disease, because, if discovered soon enough, it can be checked.

Until the department's testing program, hospitals take a blood sample from an infant's heel on the third day of life. The blood is sent to public health laboratories in Philadelphia or Pittsburgh where it is tested to determine if PKU is present.

KILLED KENNEDY BILL

Q. Is it fair to say you killed the Kennedy school bill?

A. Yes. The bill was discriminatory from its inception. It would have helped only public schools, and no amendments could even be offered to aid private schools.

Q. How do you feel about that vote now?

A. I said at the time I wanted to clear the air. Up until then no one had thought of what could be done constitutionally to help education. I think it has worked. People know much more about this now. It would have been a mistake to pass that bill in 1961.

MEETS OBJECTIONS

Q. Does the Johnson bill, in general, meet your objections to the Kennedy bill?

A. Yes. It makes the child, not the school, the beneficiary of the program.

Q. For the last few years you've introduced a bill you call the "junior GI bill," which would authorize an annual grant for each child attending school, whether public or private. Do you intend to offer it again?

A. Yes. I consider it a more efficient bill. Under the general welfare clause we grant old-age assistance to people in Protestant, Catholic and Jewish homes. Surely that principle is just as valid in the field of education.

WANTS TUITION DEDUCTION

I also favor income tax deductions for private school tuition. But I can't oppose the administration bill because it would treat all children equally.

Q. Do you think the President should have been more explicit in saying how parochial schools are to benefit under his bill?

A. No. I would prefer to see the language kept the way it is. The intent to aid all children is there. Anything more specific could exercise limitations. I would leave it to the administration to carry out the intent of the law.

Q. If the Education and Labor steel industry, McDonald said his opponent "is attempting to wrap me in the companies' cellophane and make me look like a gift from the Chamber of Commerce."

Bernie Haag "Go-Go" Guy On Mt. St. Mary's College Fast-Stepping Court Team

"Haag's the kind of a kid," Coach Jack Lennon of St. Agnes High, Rockville Center, Long Island, N. Y., told Mt. St. Mary's coach Jim Phelan three years ago, "that when you ask him to run through a wall says, 'Which wall, Coach?' You can't go wrong with him. You'll get 100 per cent on the court and in the classroom." So Phelan took Lennon's word even though he leaned more toward Haag's back court mate Bill Broderick, now at Loyola of the South, and the Long Island youngster came on to star at Mt. St. Mary's and team up with soph Pete Johnston to give Phelan one of the really solid back court duos in the area.

A really gutsy player with few natural tools, Haag is Phelan's "go-go" guy, who buoys up the team when it starts to lag, tosses handclaps on high scorers, steals the ball time and time again from the fancy duns, manages a 14-point average even though he's one of the few kids in the country without a jump shot. At 6' Haag is slow of foot, a fair jumper, with adequate hands. Most of his teammates have more natural skill, but Haag is all heart.

FATHER WAR VICTIM

Things have never been rosy for Haag. His father, an ensign torpedo officer aboard the submarine Kete, was killed in action April 1, 1945, in the South Pacific a few months before the Japanese capitulated and almost two months before Bernie who wears his dad's name, was born. The next day his mother's brother was killed in infantry action. Added to the mother's burden was the fact that his father was carried on the missing list for almost a month before they finally sent confirmation.

At St. Agnes, Haag played in the shadow of the more talented Broderick until the Newport Tournament in 1962, the Catholic schoolboys' classic. There on a very bad leg almost swathed in bandages, Haag drove his team to a third place finish. Despite the leg that would have sidelined most players, Haag scored 72 points and was a one-man show in the triple overtime consolation in which St. Agnes edged St. Peter's of Jersey City 66-64.

When Jim Phelan offered Haag the chance to come to Mt. St. Mary's, the youngster put away his offers from Richmond, Providence, Rhode Island, Fordham, Seton Hall, Miami and a flock of lesser lights and headed for the Mount, his first choice from his sophomore year. Actually the Mountaineer club owes a vote of thanks to sister college, St. Joseph, the girls' school just across the way whose students now chant the "We're Number One" lead. His cousin, Nancy Gill, a top girl cager, had sold Bernie on the Mount long before Phelan ever heard of him.

HAMPERED BY INJURY

As a freshman Haag played behind Mt. St. Mary's exciting Eddie Pfeiffer and sharpshooting Dave Maloney. Hampered by a severe back injury incurred in a practice session, he saw little action. As a sophomore, he fought his way onto the starting five as an underdog Mountaineer five posted an 18-7 record, won the M-D northern division title and lost the league title by an eyelash to Catholic U. in the latter's gym.

This season Haag teamed with Pete Johnston to give the Mountaineers the sharpest back court duo in the league. Between them, they have hammered the nets at a 28-point per game average and shot over 500 from the floor. Johnston has a shade the better of averages 14.9 to 13.8 but Haag's 51 per cent effectiveness from the floor is a bit better than Johnston's even 50 per cent. From the foul line Haag's 74.5 per cent just edges Johnston's 74.2. Both are ball hawks who force opponent errors, snatch the ball from unwary dribblers, and steal errant passes by the bucketful. Both are heady, team-lifting players who come up with the big basket and make the big play. They never seem to miss an open man, they anticipate well and they can thread a needle when they must.

An English major in the education program, Haag hopes to teach and coach when the college cage wars are over. Phelan's never regretted the lot of Broderick, for Haag's solid 82 average over two and a half years bear out Lennon's statement about the classroom.

KEY ROLE IN RECORD

For an ugly-duckling cager, minus most of the skills college play calls for, the personable Rockville Center youngster has turned into something of a swan. Without him, Phelan's crew would hardly be whipping along at a 13-1 pace with seven straight wins in Mason-Dixon play. Only Manhattan has marred the Mountie slate and then the Mountaineers led by Johnston and Haag hauled the team back from a 19-point rout at halt time to a tinging explosion that brought the Mounties to within four points of the Jaspers before they ran out of gas in the final minute of their first appearance in the Civic Center.

Already Haag is looking forward to the renewal of the Mason-Dixon's top-drawer attraction, the return go with Loyola on February 4 at the Civic Center. If the Mountaineers get by Baltimore U. on February 2, they should match the seven-game win streak they moved into Baltimore with against Manhattan. This time Haag vows things will be different. It should be quite a match for Loyola just missed whipping the Mounties in Emmitsburg.

Promoter Ben Roth wisely moved the Loyola-Mountaineer fray into the feature 9:15 p.m. spot with Duquesne and Florida State playing the opener at 7:15 p.m.

Orioles Will Send Caravan Here Feb. 10

The Baltimore Orioles caravan, headed by the outstanding players on the team as well as key personnel in the Orioles organization, will visit the Gettysburg Elks Lodge Wednesday evening, February 10.

Among those expected to appear here are Brooks Robinson, third baseman and most valuable player in the American League last year; Steve Barber, southpaw pitching star; Milt Pappas, the right-handed hurling ace; Jerry Adair, second baseman; John Orsino, catcher; Dick Hall and Dave McNally of the mound corps.

From the business organization will be Lee McPhail, president and general manager; Jack Dunn, assistant general manager; Bill Hunter, third base coach; Gerry Sachs, publicity director.

Beginning at 5:30 p.m. members of the caravan will mix with those attending, discussing baseball and answering questions. During the roast beef dinner which will be served at 6:30, the Orioles contingent will also be open for questions.

Tickets for the affair will be $2.50 each with the proceeds going to the Pennsylvania Elks Cerebral Palsy Fund.

ROBINSON IS SIGNED; GETS BOOST IN PAY

Associated Press Sports Writer BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson, who almost led the Baltimore Orioles to their first modern major league baseball pennant last season, was signed today to the richest players' contract in Oriole club history.

The Baltimore third baseman was believed to have signed for an estimated $50,000 — a hefty $15,000 pay boost in recognition of 1964 heroics which made Robinson an overwhelming choice as the American League's Most Valuable Player.

"I'm very happy about everything," said the 27-year-old Robinson. "I couldn't be happier."

Signed Robinson was a painless duty for Oriole President Lee MacPhail, who has high personal regard for Brooks both on and off the playing field.

Robinson gave this account of his contract talks:

"I didn't sign the first contract. I think Lee sends me a figure, and then expects me to come in and talk. At our first meeting, we didn't mention any figure. The second time, I signed after about five minutes."

Robinson didn't go into the meeting empty-handed. He had a fist full of trump cards. Robby finished second to Tony Oliva with a .317 batting average, led the league with 118 runs batted in, and reached a personal high with 28 home runs. And his fielding was spectacular as usual, topping the league at his position for the fifth year in a row.

During the final three weeks of the season, Robinson was virtually immune to the pennant pressure with 28 RBI and .464 average which raised his season mark 23 points.

Central Jr. Hi Here Tonight; Big Game At N.O.

There will be no action in the Blue Mountain League this evening due to the mid-year break and while the Gettysburg High cagers enjoy a night off the Gettysburg Junior High dribblers take on one of their strongest opponents on the local floor.

Central of Chambersburg, winners of five straight and 6-1 overall, 2-1 in the South Penn League, will meet the Braves, 4-1 overall and 3-1 in the league. The Gladiators' reserves are unbeaten in seven games. The Jayvee teams will meet at 6:15.

Top scholastic game tonight will be the clash between New Oxford and Littlestown at New Oxford. The teams are deadlocked at 4-2 for first place in the Adams Division of the Adams-Franklin League.

Unbeaten Greencastle, 6-0, opposes Fairfield, 0-6, in another A-F game at Fairfield.

Biglerville, 5-7, will attempt to average a 42-40 defeat at York Springs when it enters Bermuda, 4-8, on the Cannons' floor.

Another big game tonight will be at McSherrystown where where Delone, 3-1 in the Central Penn Catholic League, takes on the league-leading Shamokin Lourdes, 3-0.

RAGAN, FORD TAKE CROSBY LEAD IN RAIN

By BOR MYERS

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Par and that old debbil, the weather, posed the principal challenges today as two seasoned players, Dave Ragan and Doug Ford, led the way into the second round of the $84,500 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

The weatherman predicted more of the same stuff that finally arrived in mid afternoon Thursday — rain.

By Crosby standards, however, it was more like heavy mist. People in other sections would admit it was rain, albeit not too heavy.

STARS LAGGING

Ragan playing the par 37-35; 72 Cypress Point course, shot 34-32—66 and Ford, over the par 36-35—71. Monterey Shore course, had 32-34—66.

By the end of Saturday's third round, the pros will have completed their lively game of musical chairs. They will have played all three courses, including what many call the real monster, Pebble Beach and its 36-36—72.

Such gallery attractions as Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, PGA champion Bobby Nichols and British Open king Tony Lemna have some ground to make up.

Nichols had a first-round 69, Lemna 71, Nicklaus 72 and Palmer 73.

West Virginian Killed In Crash

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Two station wagons collided on U.S. Route 120 about five miles north of here Thursday, killing the driver of one and injuring all four occupants of the other.

Dead was Billy E. King, 39, of Metz R.D. 1 W.Va., who was traveling alone.

He was heading south when his station wagon crossed the center line on a curve and collided with a vehicle driven by LeRoy K. Pickering, 51, of North Bend, officers said.

Treated for minor injuries at the Renovo Hospital were Pickering; Frederick R. Lucas, 54; Benjamin Abbott, 48, and David Krepps, 21, all of North Bend.

FATHER TAKES LITTLE WAGON TO OTHER SONS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The little red wagon was gone from the pediatric ward at Mississippi Baptist Hospital here today.

Lewis (Junior) Owens had wanted to ride in the red wagon — a Christmas gift from a hospital nurse — only three days ago.

"I wish I had let him," said one of his nurses. "I didn't think he was up to it."

Lewis, an 8-year-old Negro boy from the Mississippi hamlet called Hot Coffee, died Thursday. He suffered from the rare condition known as hemophilia, which means his blood wouldn't clot.

UNDERWENT APPENDECTOMY

The boy came to Baptist Hospital last Oct. 10 for an emergency appendectomy. Blood transfusions were required to keep him alive after the surgery.

For awhile, he seemed on the road to recovery then 13 days ago, doctors had to perform an emergency operation to remove an intestinal obstruction.

All told, Lewis had 351 pints of blood pumped into his thin veins. But the doctors couldn't stop the internal bleeding.

The white doctors visited him daily. But they sent no bills to his father, a laborer at a veneer mill near Hot Coffee.

HUGE HOSPITAL BILL

When Lewis died, his hospital bill stood at $17,085. The hospital has not said what it intends to do about the bill.

Donors from Mississippi and other states — some as far away as Iowa and New York — gave a total of 291 pints of blood for the tot after an Associated Press story about his condition.

BULLETIN

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — John Pont, Yale football coach, was named head coach at Indiana University today.

He succeeds Phil Dickens, who resigned last month after seven years as Indiana coach.

Pont coached two seasons at Yale, where his team had a 12-5-1 record. Previously, he was head coach at Miami of Ohio for seven years, compiling a 43-22-2 record.

Sermon For The Week

By REV. J. H. WITMER
Pastor, Centenary EUB Church
PREREQUISITE OF PEACE

Text: — Isaiah 32:17 "And the work of righteousness shall be peace, and the effect of righteousness, quietness and assurance for ever."

In this nuclear age it is obvious that peace among nations is urgently desired by most people. And not only is it desired but it is imperative if life as we know it is to continue very long upon this earth. The choice is certainly between peace or pieces. But there are those who presently have only pieces and thus feel they have nothing to lose through war. How then can those who earnestly strive and pray for peace secure it? The prophet Isaiah long ago set forth the prerequisite for peace. After describing the results of frivolity and indifference, he turns to the condition necessary for peace and harmony among men. Chapter 32, verse 15, states this condition as the outpouring of the Spirit.

PEACE ACCEPTED

This work of God must be accepted and received by man. It will then result in righteousness which will in turn bring peace as the text asserts. But the first of all must be a personal experience. Peace of heart comes among peoples and is its prerequisite Peace, as all other human experience, has its birth in the individual heart. Until the heart is made righteous by the Spirit there can be no peace anywhere since the heart is the well spring of history. "There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked." (Isaiah 57:21)

The Prince of Peace, Jesus Christ ever reminds us that righteousness precedes rather than follows peace (St. Luke 19:41) and that those who would possess peace must first accept the righteousness which comes through faith. (Romans 1:17)

A Boy's Best Friend

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Gary stood at the window this morning waving and hugging the little plush dog I brought him home from my trip. How easy it is to make a small boy happy. I love to bring him things and take him places and watch the wonder and delight glow on his face, sparkle in his big blue eyes. Right now his Dad is his best friend and hero.

It won't be this easy always. I know that as Gary grows so will his desires and the scope of his delights. I won't be able to supply his every wish or stand between him and the disappointments that come to every boy. But as friend and father I do hope to share with him the principles that have sustained me in discouragement, augmented my joy. These truths I learned from God and my Church and I know of no better way to insure for my son a life of peace and fulfillment than to encourage his religious development.

Go to your church and take your child with you.

Man Is Charged In Fatal Shooting

PARKLAND, Pa. (AP)—Midletown Twp. police charged Joseph Albert Hamzik, 42, of Trevoise, with murder Thursday night, in the fatal shooting of Raymond P. Kovitch, 21, of Bristol Twp.

Police said their investigation indicated that a tow truck carrying Kovitch and a companion, William J. Rickards, 48, of Cornwell Heights, was forced off U. S. Route 1 in Bucks County by an auto whose driver then opened fire on Kovitch.

Rickards fled to a nearby service station operated by Emery Toth, who gave police a description of the assailant's car. Bensalem Twp. police arrested Hamzik a short time later and turned him over to Middletown Twp. police.

STOCKS MIXED

NEW YORK (AP)—A small stock market rise faded early this afternoon and the list showed a mixed pattern. Trading was fairly active.

Stocks rose moderately in the morning. Sentiment seemed bolstered by a series of good corporate earnings reports and also by the British labor government's position more precarious.

The advance faltered when several blue chips were upset by selling. Chrysler, Sears, Roebuck and Texaco fell more than a point each.

has had little sleep.

A bulletin Thursday night also had reported no change in Sir Winston's condition. The medical association spokesman said then that "this sort of condition could go on perhaps for days."

SCRIBES KEEP VIGIL

The eighth day of Churchill's struggle dawned cold and miserable, with snow clouds heavy over the London skyline.

Churchill lay in a ground floor room at his London home, No. 28 Hyde Park Gate. A shivering huddle of newsmen kept vigil at the entrance to the street.

Lady Churchill — "very calm and very brave" in the words of her cousin, Sylvia Henley — left the house Thursday to walk in Hyde Park with her daughter and son-in-law, Mary and Christopher Soames.

She was warmly wrapped in a short fur coat, with fur boots and headscarf. At 79 she is still an active woman. She raised a brave smile to acknowledge the occasional passersby who nodded recognition.

PREPARE FOR SERVICE

Technicians of the British Broadcasting Corp. were building television booths inside St. Paul's Cathedral, where the nation traditionally takes leave of its warriors.

Other organizations were staking out positions in the village churchyard at Bladon, Oxfordshire, where Churchill will lie near his parents' grave.

From the five million circulation Daily Mirror came a suggestion that Churchill would not approve the atmosphere of political truce which his illness has brought.

Both Conservatives and Laborites have called off partisan broadcasts. Prime Minister Harold Wilson has postponed an important statement on Britain's crucial trade problems and put off talks with West Germany's Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Leader Of Farm Women Honored

Mrs. Richard Tosten, Gardeners R. 1, president of the Adams County Farm Women, was elected a member of the state Farm Show committee for 1965 at the 46th annual convention of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania held during the Pennsylvania Farm Show at Harrisburg.

Representing the Adams County contingent at the affair were Mrs. Tosten, Mrs. Norman Herman, York Springs R. 2, and Mrs. Raymond Bream, Gardeners. The sessions included talks by state Secretary of Agriculture Leland Bull and Dr. Rose Marie Turskey, who spoke on "protecting your family against lock jaw, whooping cough, polio and similar diseases."

The Cumberland County society was in charge of devotions at one of the sessions.

Atty. Oscar Spicer read the constitution which will be studied at a meeting of the executive board in March.

Miss Dorothy Curtis, chairman of the welfare division, reported that the Holiday Bureau which operated from Dec. 7 to 23, served as the clearing house for 136 families. There were 42 families for whom no sponsors were available, she said.

REPORTS ON MEMBERS

Mrs. Henry T. Bream, membership chairman, reported that 11 groups had paid their dues and that the Boy Scouts had recently joined the council.

Plank reported that Duane Shaw, sanitarian for the state health department, had been appointed to serve as the new chairman of the health committee and will report at the next meeting.

Thirty-six representatives of county groups attended the luncheon. Rev. Robert A. MacAskill gave the invocation.

"Youth and Missions," addressing his message especially to young people.

On Monday at 7:30 p.m. the Rev. Dr. Ralph D. Heim, professor at the Lutheran Seminary here, will speak on "The Mission in Tropical Africa," illustrated with slides taken recently when he visited the mission fields of the church. Slides will include some of the Rev. and Mrs. Louis Bowers in Liberia, missionaries supported by the local congregation for the last 27 years. Other slides will be shown of Tanganyika where one of the young men of the congregation, Stanley Prosser, is now serving with the United States Peace Corps.

The third guest speaker for the festival will be the Rev. Glenn Harding, executive director of Koinonia Foundation, Baltimore. Koinonia is a nondenominational Christian Training Center for World Service and has helped train many persons going into Peace Corps work, the world-literacy movement and other channels of service in needy areas. The Rev. Mr. Harding will speak on "Exploring a World in Need."

Plans for the Festival of Missions have been made by the congregation's Committee on Missions, Richard Lighter chairman. The public is invited to all sessions.

Idaville Home Is Damaged By Fire

Damage was estimated at "about $3,000" when fire broke out this morning at 1:53 in the home of Robert Galloway, Idaville.

Bendersville firemen after arriving at the scene radioed for Biglerville firemen to assist. York Springs firemen were asked to stand by if needed.

Firemen found the fire in the partition along one wall, had to cut through plaster on both the first and second floor and had to cut through the outside wall in order to reach the scene of the blaze.

Biglerville firemen returned to their station at 3:54 while Bendersville firemen returned home at 4 o'clock.

constructing the dam, but that release of the water will be regulated by the state and that the use of water from the dam for industrial purposes will occur only during the part of the year when it is not used for recreation.

Charles F. Hess, state director of the soil and water commission, said, "Knowledge of soil conservation is not enough. It must be put into practice. Back in 2,000 B.C. the Chinese knew quite a bit about soil conservation, yet today China's land is depleted. By the 1700s we had a pretty good idea of conservation in the U.S. but not much was done about it. Certainly if we profit by the example of others we can prevent destruction of our soil here. The question is whether we will fully utilize our knowledge."

Glenn L. Bream, deputy executive director of the Pennsylvania Game Commission held that "game is a crop of the land, just like any other crop."

He urged his audience to "write your congressman and your legislators that you oppose new bills being introduced to regulate rifles and shotguns. The purpose of the bills is to keep firearms out of the hands of criminals. But what they will actually do is to keep the firearms out of the hands of the public generally, while the criminal will have no trouble at all in getting them."

President Sukarno, Wild Man Of Borneo

By RICHARD F. NEWCOMB
AP Newsfeatures Writer

There's a new Wild Man of Borneo — President Sukarno of Indonesia.

Two-thirds of Borneo, the world's third largest island, belongs to Indonesia. The northern third of the island, made up of the states of Sarawak and Sabah (formerly called North Borneo) belong to the Federation of Malaysia. Malaysia, formed in 1963, also includes Malaya on the Asian mainland, and the neighboring island of Singapore.

For reasons best known to himself, Sukarno has sworn to "crush Malaysia." His announced reason is because he sees it as a creature of "British imperialism," and insists that it threatens Indonesia. Sukarno has now taken Indonesia out of the United Nations, the first nation ever to quit the world body. His alleged reason for that was because Malaysia was elected to a nonpermanent seat on the U.N. Security Council.

HAS RED TIES

Whatever Sukarno's true purpose, it is known that he has close ties with Red China, and Indonesia is the home of a powerful Communist party. Sukarno is also well-known to the Communists of North Viet Nam, thus pointing swords at Malaysia from above and below.

Whatever Sukarno's protestations of fearing Malaysia, thus far it has been Indonesia which has attacked Malaysia, not vice versa.

For months, small parties have been crossing the Strait of Malacca from the big Indonesian island of Sumatra, landing on the Malay peninsula above Singapore. The infiltrators have, for the most part, been rounded up by Malaysian forces. Malaysia has protested again and again; the incursions from Indonesia have, if anything, increased.

PLANS BIG PUSH

Now there are signs that Sukarno is putting on the big push — in Borneo. Early in January, Malaysia complained formally to the United Nations that "Indonesia is reinforcing its regular forces on the Borneo border by several brigades and some of these forces have already arrived and taken up their positions."

The complaint said Indonesia had brought troops from East Java, staged them through Pontianak and Mempawah, and they now stood on the border of Sarawak, opposite Lundu, Bau and Serian. Other troops from East Java, the complaint said, are poised high on the east coast of Borneo, near the border of Sabah. Malaysia said it feared attacks "more intensive" in 1963 than last year. If that happens, Malaysia "would immediately seek United Nations assistance in defense of its territorial integrity against such unprovoked aggression."

CALLS ON ALLIES

In the meantime, Malaysia has braced for the storm by calling upon its allies, Britain and Australia. British troops, warships and aircraft, have poured into Malaysia in the past few weeks. Fred Mulley, Britain's minister of defense for the army, flew to Kuching, then toured the Borneo border near Serian in jungle green uniform. Gen. Sir Malcolm Cartwright - Taylor, commander of Britain's Royal Marines, said in Singapore that he had 2,000 Marine commandos in Malaysia, half of them in Borneo. Gen. Sir James Cassels, chief of the British Army general staff, visited Kuala Lumpur, and then went to Borneo. Near Kuala Lumpur, British V-bombers were staging through the base at Butterworth. The 44,000-ton aircraft carrier Eagle arrived to form the nucleus of "the biggest British naval concentration in the world." More than 500 paratroopers were coming in from England and Gurkhas reached Kuching from Hong Kong.

ARE OUTNUMBERED

British and Commonwealth forces available now total probably 50,000, plus Malaysia's own regulars of 20,000 and some 35,000 paramilitary internal forces.

They face an Indonesian armed force of perhaps 400,000, equipped with millions of dollars worth of Soviet arms.

On both sides, the legions are gathering. If Sukarno strikes, the situation could suddenly become critical. The United States is already heavily committed to the north, in Viet Nam. The U.S. 7th Fleet is in the South China Sea, reserves are ready in the Philippines and Okinawa. Sukarno, the new Wild Man of Borneo, holds the key to war or peace.

About two per cent of U. S. farms are worth over $200,000.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats weren't the only ones who were dancing. The Republicans had their own "sub inaugural ball," and they were swinging like a bunch of winners.

The GOP party was held Wednesday night in the Republican Capitol Hill Club not far from the Capitol, where President Johnson had taken his oath at noon.

The club's three main rooms were jammed with Republicans. Michigan's Gov. George Romney hesitated in a corner near the bandstand and a receiving line formed on the spot. He signed autographs, shook hands and introduced dozens of party faithful to his wife.

Extremely high heating bills switched the McCarthys from electric heating to Gas

"Monthly electric bills as high as $73.37, $70.60 and $69.04* were the main reason for our switching from electric to gas heat," said

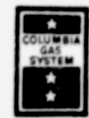

Mr. Patrick McCarthy of Irwin.

Before converting to gas, the McCarthys' Gold Medallion All Electric Home had cold floors and walls in the winter . . . the bathroom was constantly cold and the kitchen floor was cold. Even with the thermostat turned up as high as it would go, the bedrooms were extremely cold.

With gas heat the McCarthys are now dollars ahead . . . living in a comfortable home . . . living modern for less with gas because gas heats for so much less than electricity.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By E. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE LITTLE - CRAPSTER FAMILY

The descriptions and history, insofar as it is known, of the Shriver family burial ground, located on the "Farm Content," in Carroll County, Maryland, is continued at this time.

On the east side of this plot are the Shriver graves. The inscriptions from the grave markers follow:

1. "In memory of — Andrew Shriver — Born November 7, 1762 — Died September 20, 1847 — Aged 64 years — 10 months and — 13 days."

Note:—A grandson of the pioneer, Andrew Schriver, of the Conewago Settlement, and a son of David and Rebecca (Ferree) Schriver.

2. "In memory of — Elizabeth Schriver — Wife of Andrew Schriver — Born August 15, 1767 — Died September 27, 1830 — Aged 74 years."

Note:—The wife of the second Andrew Schriver and the daughter-in-law of David Shriver, the eldest son of the pioneer, Andrew Schriver, who was, according to a well-authenticated tradition, the first settler in the Conewago Settlement.

3. "In memory of — Harvey Schriver — son of A. and C. Schriver — Died April 25, 1869 — Aged 2 years and 8 months."

Note:—A great-grandson of David (Senior) and Rebecca (Ferree) Schriver — this little boy, was just another example of the high rate of infant mortality in that day, a son of Augustus and Caroline (Haines) Schriver.

4. "Sacred — to the memory of — Caroline Haines — wife of Augustus Schriver — Born August 7, 1832 — Died May 1, 1902 — Aged 69 years, 8 months and — 24 days"

Note:—Caroline (Haines) Schriver was the last person to be interred in this plot. Apparently she made all the necessary arrangements for its care and preservation — no small feat — considering the ruin and desolation that appears to be the fate of the majority of small family burial plots.

The Haines family was an old and honored one in Maryland. It is interesting to note that both Carroll and Frederick Counties can boast of several Haines family burial plots which, miracle of miracles, are still in existence.

5. "Sacred — to the memory of — Augustus Shriver — Born March 5, 1820 — Died July 28, 1872 — Aged 52 years, 4 months and — 24 days."

Note:—The son of Andrew (second of the name) and Elizabeth Schriver, and a grandson of the senior David and Rebecca (Ferree) Schriver, the pioneer members of the family in what is now Carroll County, Maryland.

6. "In memory of — Rebecca Schriver — wife of David Schriver, Senr., — Died November 24, 1812 — Aged 74 years and 10 months."

Note:—The daughter-in-law of Andrew Schriver, the pioneer settler of the Conewago, the wife of his eldest son, the senior David Schriver, who, in his turn, was an early settler in what is now Carroll County, Maryland. Before her marriage into the Shriver clan this woman was Rebecca Ferr, member of a fine, old Pennsylvania family and a descendant of the famous "Madame Ferree."

7. "In memory of — David Schriver, Senr. — Died January 29th, 1826 — Aged 91 years and 9 months."

Note:—The eldest son of Andrew Schriver, the pioneer settler of the Conewago, in the province of Pennsylvania, who, in his early manhood, emigrated to Frederick (now Carroll) County, Maryland. There, in the fullness of time, he became a prominent citizen. He was, in addition, a soldier in the War of the American Revolution.

8. "In memory of — Colonel Jacob Schriver — Died October 15, 1841 — Aged 61 years, 10 months and — 2 days."

Note:—Colonel Jacob Schriver was a son of David (Senior) and Rebecca (Ferree) Schriver and his military title was the result of his service in the War of 1812-1814.

9. "In memory of — Ann Eva Schriver — wife of Colonel Jacob Schriver — Died June 26, 1866 — Aged 78 years and 5 months."

Note:—The wife of Colonel Jacob Schriver and the daughter-in-law of the senior David and Rebecca (Ferree) Schriver, who is buried beside her husband in the second row of graves in the Shriver family burial ground — at "Farm Content."

Romney Supports Spring Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney says he supports a plan for a Republican national conference this spring to reach consensus on party goals and principles.

At a luncheon Wednesday following President Johnson's inauguration, Romney said "one of the lessons I learned in San Francisco was this: You can't get party principles and programs from a convention that is called to nominate candidates — I went there to fight for principles and found everyone concentrating on naming a candidate."

10. "Sacred — to the memory of — Caroline E. Jones — wife of Joshua Jones — and daughter of Colonel Jacob and Ann E. Schriver — Born April 20, 1817 — Died August 29, 1900."

Note:—Caroline E. (Shriver) Jones was interred in the Shriver family burial plot just two years before the final burial was made therein — that of Caroline (Haines) Schriver. The inscription on her gravestone is self-explanatory.

11. "In memory of — Barry A. Schriver — Died July 26, 1870 — Aged 5 months and 24 days. "In memory of — Edith M. Schriver — Died March 5, 1879 — Aged 13 months."

Note:—Apparently the fifth generation of the Carroll County, Maryland, branch of the Shriver family. Descendants, in the nineteenth century, of Andrew Schriver, pioneer, and his son, the senior David Schriver.

There are, in all three rows of graves in the Shriver family burial ground. The three graves of the Andrew Schriver family are in the first. The senior David Schriver family members (seven in all) are interred in the second and the children of "D. K. and C. M. Schriver" occupy the third. The family slaves are buried in the west end — also in neat rows.

As stated before this plot is well cared for and all the graves appear to be marked. It is indeed a pleasure to find a private (or family) burial ground so well preserved and in such an excellent state of preservation.

This concludes, for a time at least, the date on the Shriver family burial ground. Next week in this column there will be some new material, given by a reader of this column, on the Peter Little family and the Little-Crapster intermarriage.

BIG INCREASE IS ASKED FOR STATE POLICE FORCE IN PA.

By JACK LYNCH
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG (AP)—A sharp increase in the number of state police troopers is needed to meet rapidly expanding traffic and criminal law enforcement duties, Col. E. Wilson Purdy said today.

"Based on a recently completed survey," the state police commissioner said, "we find that if we are to maintain the level of enforcement that existed in 1953 we should have 1,409 more men on duty."

Purdy emphasized that his organization could not absorb that many new men with its present facilities, but he said he has worked out a long-range plan that calls for an increase of 300 men in the coming year.

WILL ASK 300

Gov. Scranton said in his state of the commonwealth message Jan. 5 that he would ask the legislature for a 300-man increase in the state police.

It also is expected that the governor will ask for authority to appoint 103 civilians to free that many officers for active police work.

The changes would cost an estimated $1.5 million. About 82 per cent of the cost would be borne out of motor fuel taxes.

SPREAD THINNER

The state police authorized strength is now 2,835 men, including the 185 troopers assigned solely to duty on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

"There has been no real program for keeping up our strength," said Purdy. "As a result we have to spread our manpower much thinner."

There were 1,600 men in 1938 after the merger of the state police and the old highway patrol. Manpower was increased to 1,800 in 1949 and to 1,900 in 1953.

Another 185 men were added in 1955, to cover the number of men assigned to the Turnpike detail, and 200 were taken on in 1961 to increase the authorized strength to 2,285 men.

EXPLAINS REQUIREMENTS

"Look at it this way," said Purdy. "Taking away the 185 men on the turnpike, we have 2,100 men for duty. Now with a five-day week, this is the equivalent of four shifts and 94 installations have to be manned. If we keep them open 24 hours a day and have only one man on duty this is 400 men.

"It also takes 150 to 200 men to man driver examination points and to supervise authorized inspection stations. That leaves us with 1,500 men."

"Another 200 men, for administration of the academy and headquarters, leaves us only 1,200 to 1,300 men available for day-to-day duty. Divide that by four shifts and you will find that only 350 to 400 men are available to police the entire commonwealth for traffic and crime at any one time."

Purdy said that the survey, covering the period from 1953 to 1963, showed that the number of traffic arrests increased from 143,000 to 225,000, criminal arrests from 14,900 to 20,000 and accident investigations from 23,000 to 30,675.

Freighter Crew Awaits Sinking

HONOLULU (AP)—The survivors of a sinking freighter stood safely on the deck of a rescue ship today, waiting for their broken ship to take her death plunge.

George Sarris of Athens, Greece, captain of the doomed Liberian freighter, San Nicola, and his 26 crewmen, were rescued from two lifeboats Thursday by the freighter Maria. All were uninjured.

The Maria planned to stand by until the San Nicola sank. Then she was to bring the survivors to Honolulu, 738 miles to the southeast.

The 442-foot, 7,242-ton San Nicola — owned by Caroline Navigation Company of Monrovia, Liberia — was on its way from San Francisco to Formosa, loaded with scrap iron.

Baptist Pastor Is Counselor In Truck Firm

By BEN A. BROWN

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — The Rev. Homer Good's parish cover 15 widely separated states and Canada.

The 51-year-old Baptist minister is full-time chaplain-counselor for the Hennis Freight Lines, a trucking firm based here.

The field of industrial chaplaincy is a relatively new one and has been called "industry's new dimension."

The Rev. Mr. Good left a comfortable pastorate in nearby Kernersville a year ago after nearly a quarter of a century in the pulpit.

"CHURCH AT WORK"

"I've never tried to make employees think we have a minister," he says. "As a matter of fact, maybe I've bent over the other way so that they do not consider me just as a minister."

He describes his work this way: "I have the church at work and the individual's family minister has the church at work."

S.H. Mitchell started Hennis in 1946 driving the firm's first truck. "At that time," he recalled, "it was no major undertaking to spend the necessary time in helping employees solve their individual problems."

2,700 EMPLOYEES

Nearly two decades later, the firm has 2,700 employees working out of 54 terminals. More than 1,200 of these employees work in Winston-Salem.

In explaining the need for counselors in industry, the Rev. Mr. Good said "the ministers are burdened with more than they can do today" in running a church, raising funds and performing other pastoral functions.

The company chaplain's task, he said, "is to just be here when you're needed."

MANY DUTIES

In a recent month he spent 75 hours counseling employees. He conducts a voluntary worship service at the Winston-Salem terminal each Monday, fulfills speaking engagements, serves as relief pastor and travels periodically to the company's other terminals.

He uses the company's executive plane when necessary, and is called on by the company to notify families when there are injuries or deaths in accidents.

Jean Ogden, who has worked at Hennis since 1949, said it is "a very definite asset to the company to have someone trained in counseling."

TREMENDOUS IMPACT

"The impact of the Rev. Mr. Good's work has been tremendous," she said. "It has resulted in a closer relationship among all employees. Problems between workers have become less serious."

The Rev. Mr. Good, a native of Tennessee, was graduated from North Carolina's Davidson College. He is married and the father of four children. One of his sons, Homer Good Jr., is in sales work for another trucking company in Richmond, Va.

WIDE RANGE IN LEGISLATORS' SCALE OF PAY

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY

CHICAGO (AP) — Early in the 1965 session members of the Illinois House recessed for an hour and lined up at the clerk's office.

Their purpose was to collect checks for either $6,000 or $12,000, depending on whether they wanted to be paid for one year or two years, in advance.

The pay in Illinois is big enough — relatively — to warrant a high priority among things to do during the new biennial lawmaking season.

But a survey by The Associated Press showed today legislators' paychecks vary sharply across the nation.

$200 TO $20,000

Salary for a two-year period ranges from $200 in New Hampshire to $20,000 in New York and Michigan.

The spread in pay per day — a method used in some capitals — is from $5 in North Dakota and Rhode Island to $50 in Louisiana.

But there are fringe benefits in many states. They take such forms as stamps, stationery, board and room and travel expenses. And they include such extras as railroad, theater and basketball game passes, credit cards, limousines and chauffeurs — and mileage allowances based on old stagecoach routes.

AT TOP OF LIST

On Jan. 1, salaries in the Michigan Legislature went up to $10,000 a year plus $2,500 designated as expenses which need not be itemized.

In New York State each legislator receives: $10,000 a year in salary plus $1,000 expense allowance; reimbursement for one round-trip weekly between Albany and home while the legislature is in session — about three months a year; an allowance for long-distance telephone calls from the Capitol; the same pension and health insurance benefits open to state employees.

The state also furnishes limousines and chauffeurs for seven key leaders in the Senate and Assembly.

A man who wins election to a $6,000-a-year position in the California Assembly is entitled to: a leased car, gasoline and telephone credit cards and $1,250 a month to maintain an office in his home district, including $150 for rent.

PLEDGE ACTION ON CHEATING AT AF ACADEMY

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — "Prompt and appropriate action" was promised by Air Force Academy officials Thursday in the investigation of possible cheating on examinations by cadets.

The study has already led to the resignations of four cadets, none of whom were identified.

An investigative committee appointed by Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, academy superintendent, is probing reported violations of the cadet honor code.

The code — like those of the country's other military academies — provides that a cadet must not lie, cheat, or steal, or erately active. Slaughter steers and heifers steady to 25 cents lower; cows mostly 25 to 50 cents lower; bulls steady to weak; not enough feeder cattle on offer for test of trade. Supply includes 30 per cent slaughter steers and heifers, 40 per cent cows, balance largely bulls and feeder cattle.

Slaughter Steers — Mostly choice, few good 1,075-1,100 lbs. $24, mostly good 1,150-1,275 lbs. $22.25-23.25.

Cows — Utility and commercial cows $13.25-15, canner and cutter $11-13.25, shelly canner $10-11.25.

Bulls — Utility and commercial $17-19, canner and cutter $15-17.50.

Feeder Cattle — Few good and choice 300-350 lb. steer calves, $20-21.

HOGS — Receipts 600. Moderately active. Early sales barrows and gilts steady to weak; sows scarce.

Barrows and Gilts — U.S. No. 1 & 2 190-230 lbs., $18, U.S. No. 1-3 180-240 lbs., $17.75-18, U.S. No. 2 & 3 240-270 lbs., $16.75-17.75.

tolerate classmates who do.

Col. Richard Haney, academy information officer, said violators of the code are subject to court martial, but are usually given a chance to resign. Any cadet proven to have cheated, he said, "will have his status as a cadet terminated."

Except for those possibly involved in the investigation, the 2,700 cadets are enjoying normal privileges Haney said.

First classmen (seniors) are free to come and go almost at will. Fourth classmen (freshmen) get off the base only on special occasions.

Haney said that those believed to be involved have been restricted to quarters. He did not say how many were thus affected.

He denied a report that all cadets were restricted and that guards were patrolling parking areas to see that none left.

The investigation is the first of its kind in the 10-year history of the academy, which borders the mountain 10 miles north of Colorado Springs.

100 EVACUATE HOMES AS RAIN FLOODS TEXAS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain and snow dampened wide areas in the central and Western sections of the nation today. Torrential rains hit parts of Texas causing some flooding and the evacuation of about 100 persons in one town.

Warm air that ended a cold spell in the Southeast and Gulf states spread northeastward into the Midwest, the central Appalachians and into the Atlantic Coast. Temperatures were generally above seasonal levels in wide areas. Coolest spots were in the northern Great Lakes, northern New England and the northern Rockies.

Up to six inches of rain drenched the area of Georgetown, in south-central Texas, causing the normally placid Smith Branch to overflow. Water up to two feet deep poured into about 25 homes, forcing about 100 persons to flee.

Heavy rain also doused areas in central Texas, including Temple, Killeen and Mayfield, with up to five inches in some communities. Floods threatened parts of Killeen, adjacent to Ft. Hood.

Light snow fell from the Dakotas to Upper Michigan, with rain in other Midwest areas. Damp, foggy weather continued in sections of Utah, Idaho, Washington and Montana.

Aged Guests Safe In Hotel Blaze

RHINELANDER, Wis. (AP) — The upper floor of the four-story Fenlon Hotel, the permanent residence of several elderly persons, was swept by fire Thursday night.

Eight persons, all but one suffering from smoke inhalation, were hospitalized. Five were held overnight and were reported in satisfactory condition. In all, 20 guests and five employees escaped the flames.

The cause of the blaze in the 150-room, brick building was not determined immediately.

Mahalia Jackson Back In Hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Gospel singer Mahalia Jackson is in Chicago's Billings Hospital for treatment of an acute lower back strain.

The singer, 50, entered the hospital Tuesday. A spokesman for the hospital said she is making satisfactory progress.

There were no details on how Miss Jackson injured her back. The hospital spokesman declined to comment, other than to say her hospitalization had no connection with the heart ailment for which she was treated last year.

Cat In Library Wall Poses School Problem

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) out.

The Sand Lake elementary school here has a brand new library and multipurpose room with just one fault. There's a cat in the wall.

Principal Gordon Parker and his teachers have called "kitty" until they're hoarse. No answer.

They got a trap from the State Fish and Game Department and baited it with cat food. In the morning, the goodies were gone, but the cat was still in the wall.

They tried two cans of sardines. Same result.

The cat's been in the wall for a week now.

The whole thing started while Parker and employees of the contractor were inspecting the school addition. The job was finished except for closing in an inspection plate about 18 by 18 inches in size.

"We were just standing there when this big old black cat came running into the room and jumped right smack into the hole," Parker said.

CAN'T USE ROOM

"We can't use the room. We have to keep the door closed or we never will know if he comes out."

HESS SERVICES HELD

Funeral services for Walter L. Hess, 84, a native of Carroll County, Md., who died Sunday afternoon in Philadelphia, were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Wilson Funeral Home in Emmitsburg. Interment was made in Mountview Cemetery at Emmitsburg. These sons and grandsons were the pallbearers: Charles D. Hess, Charles E. George and Mark Hess.

"We've seen him. That room has a glass front. Several times we've slipped up there real quiet like and there he is — out in the room."

"Then you reach for that door and — wham! back he goes into the wall."

The cat has not been given a name.

"We don't know whether to call him, or it, John or Jane," Parker said.

"If it should be a female — having kittens in there — then we're really in trouble."

TIROS 9 GOES IN ORBIT TODAY

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Tiros 9, a mechanical meteorologist designed to roll through space on its side like a huge cartwheel, rocketed into orbit today in another step toward an operational weather satellite forecasting system.

Tiros 9 was to obtain the best camera coverage yet of the earth's weather pattern, eclipsing the performance of any of its eight successful predecessors.

A three-stage Delta rocket blasted into the early morning darkness at 2:52 a.m. and shoved the 395-pound satellite into a north-south polar orbit more than 460 miles high. From this outpost in space Tiros 9 was to provide continuous pictures of the cloud cover below.

NEW EDUCATIONAL DEMANDS Changing Patterns Of Employment Require More Technical Education

ALL STATES have educational problems. Some Wisconsin taxpayers complain that non-resident fees paid by out-of-state students are not high enough to cover their additional per student costs per year. Six thousand more students came to Wisconsin tax-supported universities and colleges than there were of Wisconsin students, this year, going elsewhere for educational reasons. They are referred to as "net imports."

On the other hand, New Jersey and Illinois are somewhat embarrassed by the excess numbers of students they are "exporting," compared to those they are attracting, or accepting from other states.

A Pennsylvania educator complains that the New Jersey taxpayers are like cow-birds. "They drop their eggs in other bird's nests so they will not have the trouble and expense of hatching them."

Much the same could be said of Illinois. With a mild note of embarrassment, the president of the University of Illinois states in a "faculty letter" that the "net export" of undergraduate university students to other states is no less than 24,647.

This means the taxpayers of Illinois are saving themselves the cost of an additional university the size of the University of Texas, at Austin. The burden falls upon the students, their parents and the institutions receiving the exportees.

Actually it is not as bad as it sounds. On the whole, student migrations throughout United States more or less counter-balance. Moreover, the non-resident fees of most tax-supported colleges and universities do go a long way toward matching the additional, per student, per year costs.

IN TENNESSEE there is a growing impetus to do something for the 60 to 70 per cent of young people who will never go to the traditional college or university, and those few who do gain admission will most likely become "dropouts." The junior college format for one or two years of "further education," if not higher education, is being looked upon with increasing favor, we are told.

In Wisconsin, newly elected Republican Governor Warren Knowles is asking: "Has any survey been taken to assess the popular demand of the citizens for occupational-type training?" He is most certainly thinking of Wisconsin's "high school graduates who do not now attend a four-year college, public or private," to quote further from a related query.

In Texas the governor's committee on Education Beyond High School frankly admitted that for the "past 20 years Texas industry has benefited through hiring technicians and craftsmen who were trained by the armed services and the Veterans Administration. These sources no longer supply any appreciable number." Replacements must be found "not only for the benefit of Texas... but also... for Texas youth."

When states so far apart geographically, so different in contributions to the American economy and so varied in their several cultural heritages become so vitally concerned about the same educational problem, we may well conclude that it is a problem from coast to coast. And such is the case.

New York, in the East, and California on the Pacific Coast had the problem forced upon them earlier than have the others. Accordingly they have, as of now, probably gone further toward a solution than have any other two states.

But the other states are not standing still. Some are approaching the problem with a junior college that is little more than grades 13 and 14 of a local, consolidated public school district. Generally speaking, the results have not been flattering. Some states, like Minnesota, are setting up a state tax-supported junior college system, each with a comprehensive curricular policy that offers occupational and semiprofessional courses alongside traditional college courses for transfer to a traditional type college or university.

Others are adopting the branch campus or university center approach, with the junior colleges organized as satellites of a nearby college or university. Most insist this procedure has grave limitations, most particularly in a flexibility of response to the local needs. Moreover, there are unfavorable comparisons in per student costs.

Community junior colleges under community boards of control with state aids and supervision is another solution, but the educational experts are not in uniform agreement as to the advantages and handicaps of this structure. Too flexible, some say.

Meanwhile, the parents and communities without educational facilities have mounting concerns for their young people who are not interested in the traditional college education, but for whom skills for the changing patterns of modern employment are absolutely essential.

CRAIG TRUAX OPTIMISTIC

CHICAGO (AP)—Craig Truax, Pennsylvania Republican chairman, has proposed that the GOP set up and staff a national Republican clearing house to handle information on improvement of local and state governments.

Speaking at the University Club here Thursday night, Truax suggested that a council of national leaders be formed now "to begin and continue the dialogue necessary to unify our forces."

There is a wide gulf or lack of communication between congressional and state groups of the GOP, Truax said.

The Pennsylvania chairman, attending meetings of Republican leaders here, said he believes that the current conference will produce a unity.

"The Republican Party must change to survive as a major party," he said. "I advocate, with the limitation of laws and the principles of our Constitution, that the Republican Party now seek and follow new courses of action that will meet head-on the social, economic and political problems which abound in this country and in this world."

CAR FLASHES THRU HOUSE

ANSONIA, Conn. (AP)—Marie Hampey was in her kitchen Thursday night putting up her hair when suddenly there was a tremendous crash and a car zoomed past her.

The car continued out to the back porch, through the back yard and down a 12-foot embankment. The car had entered the house near the front door and traveled through the living room and a bedroom before reaching the kitchen, pushing beds, chairs and tables before it.

The driver of the car, Zena Fasciano, 41, said that she was coming down a steep grade when her car brakes failed.

Mrs. Hampey was uninjured. Mrs. Fasciano and a passenger, Jean Sovinski, 34, were treated for minor injuries.

NASA said it stopped functioning properly one week after the launching.

The 575-pound spacecraft is to fly past Mars July 14. By midafternoon today, NASA said, the

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson makes unity a central theme of his new administration. At first glance his inaugural address Wednesday looked like just a pep talk. But there was more to it than that.

It had ancestors in President Jefferson's inaugural 124 years ago and President Monroe's "era of good feeling."

Jefferson and his Republicans (today's Democrats) had just come through a corrosive presidential contest with the Federalists, a conservative-aristocratic party which didn't last long when he took the oath in 1801.

SPLIT BY FACTIONS The country, just a few years old, was split by intensely bitter factionalism. Jefferson, trying to heal the wounds said "we are all Republicans, we are all Federalists." He talked of unity, justice, freedom.

And, dwelling on the immense possibilities in American life, he said there was enough room here "for our descendants to the thousandth and thousandth generation."

By the time Monroe won the presidency in 1816—against the Federalists—the party was disintegrating so badly that when he got his second term in 1820 he had all the electoral votes except one.

ECHOED MONROE Monroe, taking advantage of the growing political vacuum, said he wanted to be President of all the people and he succeeded so well that his time in the White House was known as the "era of good feeling."

Johnson last fall fought one of the bitterest presidential campaigns in history to beat Sen. Barry Goldwater and the conservatives he represented.

But Johnson, even before his victory, echoed Monroe: He said he wanted to be President of all the people. And, like Jefferson, he is trying to heal the campaign wounds and, in so doing, try to disarm his opposition.

Wednesday he used the words "unity" or "union" eight times in his address, "justice" five, and "liberty" five.

DESCRIBES FUTURE Johnson set the tone and the theme in his opening paragraph, a vivid reminder of Jefferson: "We are one nation and one people." He went on to paint the immense possibilities in America.

Mariner will have traveled more than 93 million miles. Since the earth has been moving at the same time, the spacecraft's distance from the earth will be only 10,042,888 miles.

can life, as Jefferson did. He described the American future as the "uncrossed desert and the unclimbed ridge. It is the star not reached and the harvest sleeping unplowed in the ground."

All this by itself would have been a significant indication of his thought. But it acquired special meaning by coming on top of his State of the Union message 17 days ago. There he sounded the same central theme of unity.

NOT ACCIDENTAL He used "unity" or "union" five times in the first six paragraphs. For a man as careful as Johnson, none of this could be accidental. The two speeches had something else in common, too: They skipped gingerly over foreign policy.

The pieces, all pulled together, fit in precisely with Johnson's political technique built up over 30 years in public life: to get things done try to eliminate animosities and certainly don't fan them.

He has been running the government for 14 months. He delivered his State of the Union message on Jan. 4, making about 50 proposals to Congress. He covered the world.

For that reason his inaugural talk Wednesday was an anticlimax.

Companies Sued For Price Fixing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Six top aluminum companies have been sued in U. S. District Court over allegedly "rigged" prices on cable sold to the Orlando, Fla., Public Utilities Commission.

J. Thomas Gurney Sr., attorney for the commission, said in Orlando, the suit, filed Tuesday, asked treble damages. No amount was named.

It charged that between June of 1958 and March of 1961 the companies combined to restrain competition by charging rigged and maintained prices on aluminum cable.

Named in the suit were Aluminum Company of America; Reynolds Metals Co.; Anaconda Wire and Cable Co.; General Cable Corp.; Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Sales Inc.; and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp.

Mission Work Is Urged On Church

BUCK HILL FALLS, Pa. (AP)—The Methodist Church should do much more evangelistic and other missionary work among Spanish-speaking people in America, two Methodist leaders urged Thursday.

Reporting to the Methodist Board of Missions at its annual meeting, the two executives of the church said that Latin Americans in the U.S. need the goodwill of Anglo-Americans and that there is "an open door to evangelistic work among these Americans."

Trying To Block Closings By VA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Twenty-four House members or their aides met Thursday to draft strategy aimed at blocking a decision by the Veterans' Administration to close 32 of its facilities, including the VA regional office in Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

They adopted a resolution, introduced by Rep. Daniel J. Flood, to help the House Veterans Committee gather information for a planned investigation into the decision. The resolution calls for arousing the support of civic groups and veterans organizations. The group urged the committee to hold hearings as soon as possible and to seek an indefinite delay in implementation of the VA decision. Flood has protested the Wilkes-Barre closing to the White House. He said, however, he has received no reaction so far from the Administration, and he warned his House colleagues not to be too optimistic.

Decision Near On Y. A. Tittle's Plans

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants reportedly will reveal today whether veteran quarterback Y. A. Tittle will retire or try another year of National League football.

The Giants scheduled a press conference but didn't say what the subject would be. It was believed, though, that Tittle's future would be announced.

Since the Giants closed out their disastrous 2-10-2 season, there has been speculation both that the 39-year-old signal-caller would call it quits and that he would continue throwing passes for the Giants.

BIAS CUTS ADD NEW ELEGANCE TO STYLE SHOW

By LOUISE HICKMAN
ROME (AP) — Princess Irene Galitzine made a bid with bias Wednesday night in her spring and summer collection. It was a big hit.

Her evening show, topping the start of four days of Roman fashion presentations, was the first really gala, jam-packed opening on the program.

Subtly based on the bias, the collection was elegant and lady-like. But at the very last came great, fluttering butterfly dresses in glowing, shimmering silk prints.

Otherwise the look was so restrained, so pure as to seem easy. But such fluid shape comes only from the tricky technique of cutting on the cross.

USED LINEN FABRICS
Galitzine avoided not only the flutter of bias but for the most part its traditional fabrics also. One usually associates the cut with crepe. Linen was more typical in this collection.

High-crossing surplice bodices were frequent. For evening they shed one shoulder.

Silks were soft but rarely full. Many were double, showing at most an inch of undershirt. When there were belts, they were circles of soft knotted leather or lightly tied lengths of ribbon.

Nothing was allowed to clutter the look, not even buttons. Double-breasted closings were held by hidden snaps.

New York Dock Workers Vote To Accept Contract With Shippers; Many Out

By AUSTIN SCOTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes for a final settlement of the Maine-to-Texas dock strike turned to other ports today, after New York workers voted overwhelmingly to accept a contract they previously had rejected.

The International Longshoremen's Association president, Thomas W. Gleason, made plans to attend a meeting between shippers and striking Gulf Coast workers in Galveston, Tex. He said he hopes they can end their disputes quickly.

Some local ILA leaders felt a general return to work could be sometime away for the 60,000 longshoremen. Workers in New York and other strikebound ports will remain idle until satisfactory contracts have been agreed on in all ports.

NOT IMPRESSED
Thomas J. Burke, ILA district vice president at Savannah, Ga., said at least another week will be required to negotiate a contract for his South Atlantic district.

"The New York vote doesn't wave a magic wand for us," commented Alfred Chittenden, president of New Orleans Local 1418. "We brought 17 different, touchy subjects to the table and all 17 are unsettled."

George Dixon, ILA vice president and head of Mobile, Ala., Local 1014, said there are still major disagreements from Moorehead City, N. C., to Tampa, Fla., and from Lake Charles, La., to Brownsville, Tex.

OTHER APPROVAL
The situation appeared a little better on the East Coast, where longshoremen in Hampton Roads, Va., voted overwhelmingly Thursday in favor of a contract they, too, had previously rejected.

Some 2,200 Boston dock workers vote on a pact Sunday, with approval predicted by ILA Vice President John F. Moran. Philadelphia's ILA chief, James Mook, predicted that the general New York contract terms would be acceptable there. His union meets today to discuss local issues.

Despite the remaining complications, observers expressed hope the New York contract acceptance Thursday by a vote of 12,104 in favor and 5,236 against means a "turning point" had been reached in waterfront relations.

"BEST CONTRACT"
ILA officials called the new agreement "the best contract in the 72-year history of the union."

Besides a guaranteed minimum annual wage of $5,860, it offers improved pension coverage, increased holidays and longer vacations, earlier retirement and a 36-cents-an-hour increase over four years in the base wage of $3.2 an hour.

A major concession to automation allows shipping firms to reduce waterfront work gangs by attrition from 20 men to 17 over the four-year life of the contract. This was believed the major factor behind the turnaround two weeks ago by a vote of 8,722 to 7,957.

Troops Use

their clubs
GAVE FIRST AID

Some Americans from the embassy ran into the street and dragged bleeding monks and nuns down a side street where they gave them first aid treatment.

The Buddhists broke ranks under the attack and dispersed in all directions.

Some 500 youths tried to join the monks and nuns in front of the embassy but troops halted them two blocks away.

The youths screamed insults at the troops and threw rocks. When the police fired tear gas at them, the youths broke into groups and moved on the U.S. Library, where they smashed doors and windows.

Several dozen demonstrators probably were injured in the fray.

THIRD DAY OF FAST
The demonstration occurred on the third day of a "fast to the death" at Buddhist headquarters by five leading monks demanding the resignation of Premier Huong.

A Buddhist spokesman said over a loudspeaker during the demonstration at the embassy: "We have no other choice but to show our grievances publicly for the benefit of our countrymen and the world."

WAR CONTINUES
Despite the political turmoil in Saigon, the war against the Communist Viet Cong continued in the countryside. Government forces were flown into a battle in the Mekong Delta Thursday and killed 46 guerrillas and captured 61 others.

It was described as the government's biggest victory in weeks.

Helicopters in two massive waves airlifted some 1,500 soldiers into the fight, about 50 miles south of Saigon, in Kien Hoa Province.

Communist fire downed three helicopters, but the American crewmen were rescued. Five government dead and 11 wounded were reported.

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP)—Judge James W. Cullen has ordered a hearing for Feb. 5 for Tracy Silkman Sr., 68, of Sayre, to determine the degree of guilt in the fatal shooting of Silkman's wife last Oct. 12. Silkman pleaded guilty Thursday to a general charge of murder.

Short of dismissing Gordon Walker, Wilson faced one of two alternatives. He can place the veteran politician in the House of Lords with a life peerage, or force another Labor member of Commons to resign in the hope that Gordon Walker can win an elective seat on the third time out.

"END OF ME"
"Some people will say it will be the end of me — but I can't say that yet," commented Gordon Walker. He was obviously shocked and upset.

Asked if he would seek another seat, he replied: "I am always a game, tough fighter."

However, it seemed likely that Wilson would have to consider the appointment of a new foreign secretary. Political experts speculated that Denis Healey, 47, the defense minister, would get the job.

Gordon Walker since 1945 had represented the Smethwick district of Birmingham in Commons. A large number of colored immigrants have moved into the district, and he lost in October after a campaign during which much was made of a speech he made three years ago opposing the Conservative government's curbs on colored Commonwealth immigrants.

RACIAL ISSUE
To give him a seat in Commons, Wilson moved the representative of the Leyton district, in London's East End, into the House of Lords. But again the racial issue was raised. Gordon Walker denied that race was a factor in the outcome.

Buxton, 42, got 16,544 votes to Gordon Walker's 16,339. Labor had won the seat in October 23, 1964-1974.

In the other election, at Neaton in the Midlands, Cousins won by 18,325 votes to 13,084 for Conservative D. S. Marland.

Former Gettysburg College Student Is Latest Singing Rage In Italy; To Be On TV

A 28-year-old former Gettysburg College student who left a $10,000-a-year U. S. government post in Rome to enter show business is the latest singing rage of Italy.

He is Virgilio Volpe, son of Carol Volpe, a trucking executive of Norristown, Pa., and was a student at Gettysburg College as a Freshman in 1953-54. He was a premedical student here but transferred to Pennsylvania State University where he was graduated as a language major.

He joined the SAE fraternity but campus acquaintances could not remember today that he had distinguished himself musically here. He was not a member of the college choir.

Virgilio struck it rich with his recording of "Ciao For Now," currently heading the Italian hit parade. In English, ciao means "so long."

JOINED BY GIRL
Volpe collaborated on the song with Madeline Maschia, a secretary with the U. S. Army's Southern European Task Force in Rome. Until last year, Virgilio, who speaks five languages, served as the unit's liaison man with the Italian government. He stated he left the post when he came up for reassignment.

Volpe, now visiting his parents in Norristown, explained how he got into show business.

TO APPEAR ON TV
"I was at a cocktail party and somebody asked me to sing. A record executive was there and encouraged me to make a demonstration disc, which was picked up by Leader Records."

Volpe said he has been signed by a New York talent agency and to appear on two top U. S. network television shows in the near future.

VIRGILIO VOLPE
When he returns to the continent, he will tour Austria, Germany and Switzerland.

DIES FROM FALL
YORK, Pa. (AP)—Frederick Myers, 21, of Dover R.D. 3, died today in York Hospital of injuries which attendants said he suffered in a fall on the ice while skating Thursday night with members of his family at Finchot State Park.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Richard W. Krimm of Williamsport, is the new chief of the division of agents and brokers for the State Insurance Commission. He was named to the $7,700-a-year job Thursday by Mrs. Audrey R. Kelly, insurance commissioner.

PSU'S ANNUAL REPORT GIVEN BY DR. WALKER

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Eric A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, says the need for expanded educational opportunities is "the most compelling problem facing the Commonwealth."

In a statement contained Wednesday in Penn State's annual report for 1963-64, Walker said:

"I hope that every citizen of the Commonwealth will support efforts to activate a master plan calling for expanded educational opportunities in Pennsylvania."

5,102 DEGREES IN YEAR

The master plan, now being formulated by the State Board of Education, will be aimed at setting up educational opportunities beyond the high school level on as wide a base as possible.

Hearings on the proposed plan are being conducted by the council of higher education, a part of the state board.

During 1963-64 Penn State, a land-grant institution conferred 5,102 degrees, including 201 doctorates, 705 masters degrees and 3,699 baccalaureate degrees.

EXPANSION PROGRAM

Graduate centers were established at King of Prussia and in the Harrisburg-Lancaster-York area. Fifteen other branch campuses were expanded.

Of the $78,934,441 budget, $25,123,058 came from the Commonwealth and $16,672,266 from student tuition and charges.

A total of $21,650,288 was spent for resident instruction and departmental research and $17,441,204 for organized research.

STAR WORRIES NEW ROLE MAY HURT 'MARTIAN'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ray Walston cracked about the furor over "Kiss Me, Stupid." "It has been great for my image — made me seem racy without getting me in trouble with my wife."

But his is a Pagliacci-like comment hiding the real inside. The barrage of criticism directed at the Billy Wilder sex-comedy has both puzzled and pained him.

HURT BY CRITICS

A cap pulled down over his forehead, Walston bicycled from the "My Favorite Martian" set to a nearby restaurant to discuss the affair over lunch.

"I can tell you this about 'Kiss Me, Stupid,'" the comedian said in utter seriousness. "There is a big hurt in here."

FLUTIST WILL GIVE CONCERT

NEW YORK (AP) — Elaine Shaffer has interrupted a European concert tour for "sentimental reasons" and has agreed to perform in Harrisburg, and her home town of Williamsport, Pa.

Miss Shaffer, a flutist, married to orchestra conductor Efram Kurtz, said she had planned only the Harrisburg performance with the Harrisburg Symphony on Jan. 26.

But, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Shaffer, of Williamsport, told her that an anonymous person had arranged to hire the Harrisburg Symphony and bring it to Williamsport the next day.

"I just love the idea," Miss Shaffer said. "It's very gratifying to know that they want me to come back."

She said she would give the performance in the Capitol Theater. She last played there when she was 12.

Johnson Regrets Fay's Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has expressed deep regret at the resignation of Undersecretary of the Navy Paul B. Fay Jr.

Fay, a close friend of the late President John F. Kennedy, stepped out last Friday, and the White House Wednesday made public a letter Johnson wrote to Fay.

Fay is returning to the family construction business in San Francisco. He was named to the Navy post at the start of the Kennedy administration.

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Donald Richard Freeman, 30, has been committed to the Monroe County jail without bail after being formally charged with first degree murder in the rifle slaying of Claude John Ludwig, 42, on Tuesday night. He was charged Wednesday at a preliminary arraignment before Justice of the Peace Forrest B. Sebring of Stroud Township.

DICK WEBER TAKES LEAD

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dick Weber of St. Louis may be zeroing in on his third title in the $100,000 All-Star Bowling Tournament.

The gaunt little man, who won the 1962 and 1963 championships, took a 352-pin lead Thursday in the American Division of the two-section event. Ray Bluth, Weber's old teammate and doubles partner, was in second place.

Bluth, bowling's perennial runner-up, had knocked down only 102 less pins than Weber, but won only 12 games as compared to Weber's 17 victories.

Under the tournament's bonus pin format, a bowler gets 50 extra pins every time he wins a game.
